

Proven Tools to Increase Organics Collection and Participation

BioBag is the world's leading provider of compostable bags for the collection of organic waste. Many pioneering cities and counties in California have used our bags and sample packs to establish and grow their diversion programs, including San Francisco, Fremont, Pacheco, Palo Alto, Contra Costa, and Sacramento.

Increase Participation with our Envelope Packs!

Certified Compostable Bioplastics are a key factor for efficient participation and capture rates in municipal food waste collection schemes.

- Offer buckets & compostable bags to residents in pilot programs to start the habit
- Offer coupon incentives for future purchase
- Include easy-to-understand educational materials with images of items that are and are not acceptable

Why Use Compostable BioBags?

- Most residents & waste haulers prefer liners in food waste collection buckets
- Breathable bags allow moisture to evaporate, leading to less water weight and reduced tipping fees
- BioBags offer a clean approach, addressing the “yuck” factor in the kitchen and at the curb
- Largest Marketshare in Retail - Residents can easily find bags online & in stores!
